Airports

Security and skills to the fore.

Nobody understands the specific needs of the airport industries better than us.

Our staffing solutions cover:

Permanent

Temporary

Contract

Whatever the work or airport, security is a key factor for all staff.

A unique environment

Having worked in this unique environment for many years, we fully understand the recruitment processes for the UK's airports. And we're a BAA signatory for both Heathrow and Gatwick.

Security first

Finding the right candidate with the right skills is important in all the work we do. But we completely understand that security is paramount in this high-profile industry.

We specialise in the supply of security vetted personnel for airport construction, M&E systems and facilities, baggage handling automation and fit-out contractors within UK airports.

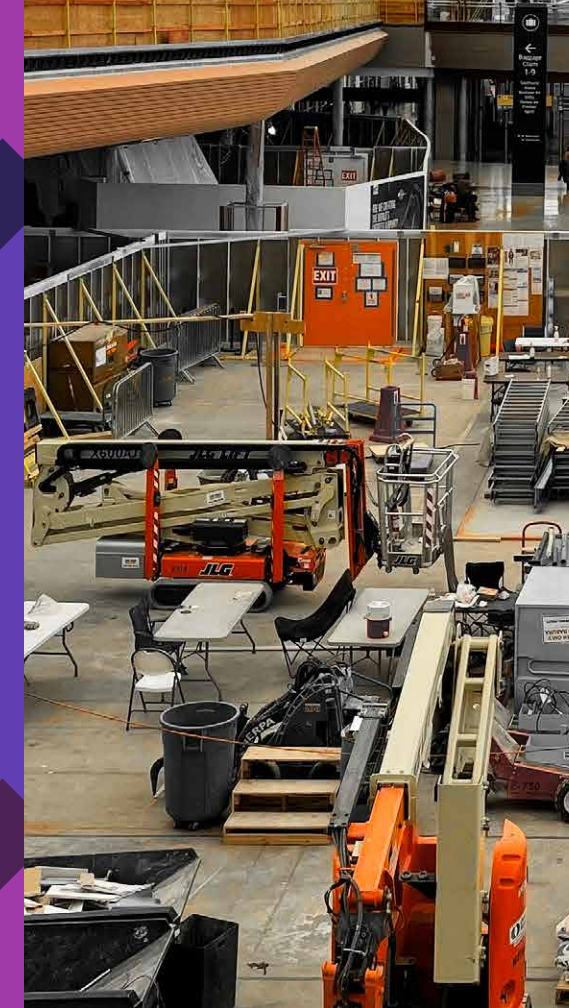

Dedicated team

Our dedicated airports team handles the processes and procedures required to obtain the various land-side and air-side security passes and makes sure all staff are compliant for airport working.

Just some of the skill types we provide:

- Structural steel
- Electrical and mechanical technicians
- Coachbuilders
- M&E systems and facilities
- Plant operatives
- PLC engineers

Personal service

We don't simply put CVs into a computer and see what comes out. We hand select all the potential candidates, making sure each is bang on right for the role being filled.

We interview and film potential candidates and send the videos to suitable clients. These videos stand out beyond the constraints of a printed CV and allow clients to quickly assess qualities such as cultural fit and technical skills.

Special relationships

We have many clients who have used our services for over ten years. We'd rather build strong relationships with a limited number of clients than pay lip service to the masses.

This approach lets us spend more time with candidates, recording bespoke interviews on behalf of clients to speed up and improve the recruitment process. Clients can review the videos in their own time and make more informed decisions.

Our candidate search process

We know how to find and allocate the right candidates. We use a detailed search process that includes:

- Running detailed searches on our CRM system
- Advertising every role on the many job boards we use
- Advertising roles on Linked-In
- Using word of mouth referral schemes
- Headhunting and advertising via live video interviews

“

For over a decade, Jason and his team have sourced some very good employees for Nemco. He always ensures he has exactly the right feel of the company so he can find the best fit applicants. Our relationship has always been open and honest – and I know that he's the same when dealing with the candidates. He'll always go above and beyond to ensure that both the client and the candidate are happy.”

Karen Syvertsen - Human Resources Manager, Nemco Ltd

“

We've worked with MTS for five years and found them to be highly reactive in filling both permanent and temporary engineering roles. They're the only agency that actually filters applicants to ensure they are suitable for the role before sending through CVs, which saves a great deal of time.”

Richard Lewis - CEO, BJS Group
